SOMMELIER SELECTION

WHITE

#030. Quintaluna, Bodegas Ossian - Rueda, Spain 2013 ..... 29
Verdejo 100%, most of them grown ungrafted and certified as organic. It remains on its lees for two months to add complexity, texture and richness.

#114. Clos du Capucins, Domaine Weinbach - Alsace 2011 ..... 53
The first references to the Capucin monastery here date back to the ninth century. This Sylvaner shows flavors of ripe orchard and stone fruit as well as complex floral and mineral notes all combined with a creamy and silky texture.

#353. Rubaiyat, Marufuji - Yamanashi, Japan 2012 ..... 65
Koshu is a white grape originally from the Caucasus, these were brought to Japan around 1000 years ago. Pink-skinned grape, delicate with hints of white peach and tangerine.

#306. Pietra Nera, Marco de Bartoli - Marsala, Sicily 2012 ..... 72

#708. Xinomavro Nature, Domaine Thymiopoulos 2012 - Naoussa, Greece ..... 48
Xinomavro is the main and noblest indigenous red grape varietal of northern Greece. Its name reveals its basic features: high in acidity (Xino means sour) deep and black in colour (mavro means black).

#190. Ma Petite Francine, Jamsheed wines, Australia 2012 ..... 52
Ma Petite Francine is a really tender way to describe a gorgeous single vineyard from the Yarra Valley planted only with cabernet franc grapes, a safe but funky choice.

#505. Il Glicine, Sandro Fay - Valtellina Sassella, Lombardia, Italy 2010 ..... 69
This nebbiolo goes through fermentation in stainless steel tanks for 2 weeks and then is aged for 12 months in barriques. Soft and elegant, with hints of cherry and raspberry fruit with also a bit of a tannic framework.

#709. Cote-Rôtie, Coteaux du Tupin, J.M Stephan, Rhône Valley, France 2007 ..... 180
for us an exceptional example of craft, a real treat, according to the vibrancy and the amount of work put together on this precise piece of art I would say it is my all time favourite.
